PERTH GLORY

Message from Nick Tana, Chairman of Perth Glory

Welcome once again to Perth Oval for what should be a cracking game today against Adelaide City.

Adelaide have been one of the power teams of the national soccer competition and though going through a transitional stage feature some fine players and will prove a stern test.

The fixture will also have special meaning for our coach Gary Marocchi and captain Gareth Naven, who both have had spells with the visitors.

Our last home game ended with a disappointing result but it was the sort of game which shows just why soccer is the world's most popular sport.

When Gippsland Falcons were 3-0 up there were plenty of long faces and things looked worrying.

However, the crowd noise was magnificent and lifted the team to a marvellous fightback which nearly saw us salvage a point.

It is amazing to think that it was only one year ago today that Glory came into being.

Watching the ground fill each home game enjoying the wonderful atmosphere our fantastic supporters are creating makes it hard to comprehend the transition that has been wrought from fledgling club to one truly making an impact on the national scene.

There was of course an enormous amount to do to reach this point and I offer my heartfelt thanks to Paul Afkos and the rest of the board for their unceasing efforts in making Glory so successful.

Roger Lefort too deserves special praise for the work he has done to get Glory to this stage.

It has not only been a question of getting together the playing staff, but finding a ground and making it into place where soccer can be enjoyed.

Then there has been all the behind the scenes work in marketing the club and selling memberships and tickets.

Coach Gary Marocchi and his team have quickly gained the respect of their peers in the Ericsson Cup and we will continue to build up the depth of the playing staff.

We look fondly back on our brief past but cast our eyes to the future with great optimism.

Happy Birthday Glory. Here's to the future.

Nick Tana, Chairman

We're behind Australian soccer, all the way.

ERICSSON

"A win for Glory is critical today"

Following two successive defeats our team will be looking for an improved defensive performance, having conceded seven goals in our past two games. Today's opponents Adelaide City have proved that a rock solid defence forms the basis of a side capable of challenging for the championship. Alex Tobin and Milan Ivanovich have been together at club and international level for a long period and with the emerging talents of ex. West Australian goalkeeper Jason Petkovic, have conceded only four goals in seven games.

The league ladder is tightening up with one winning game separating eight teams. A win for Glory is critical today to maintain our push for a top eight berth. The team performed creditably against top side Sydney United last week, with a few chances being missed. The pace of Vas Kalogeracos upset the United defence, but in the end the experience of the United side proved the difference.

Poor defensive efforts from two successive corners and two swift counter attacks led to United's four goals.

The team never gave in and should be complimented for being part of a thoroughly entertaining match. We hope to continue to provide entertaining football for the home fans but this time bringing home the three points as well.

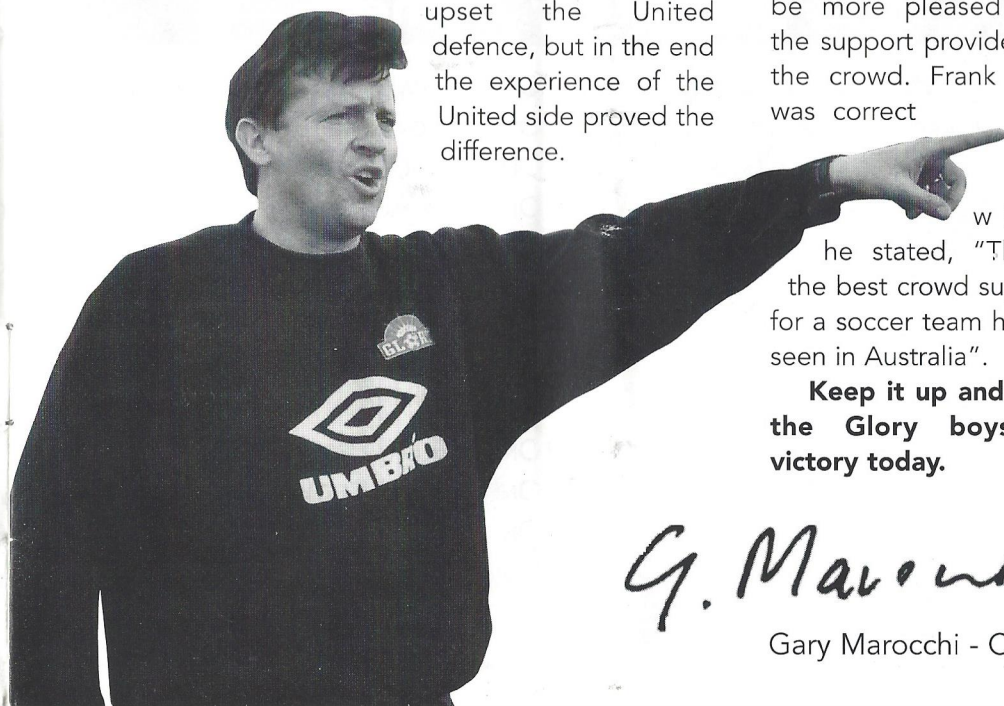

The players could not be more pleased with the support provided by the crowd. Frank Arok was correct when he stated, "This is the best crowd support for a soccer team he has seen in Australia".

Keep it up and spur the Glory boys to victory today.

G. Marocchi

Gary Marocchi - Coach

Scottish striker Alan Mackenzie is nearing match fitness. He has successfully overcome a serious knee injury and is training at close to full capacity. Glory fans will be glad to see him back as he adds a different option up front. Alan's natural fitness has helped him mend quite quickly and he was spied at training a week back joining in most activities.

On the lighter side, midfielder Paul McVittie achieved a career ambition at training recently - managing his first nutmeg. Most of you will know that a nutmeg involves knocking the ball between an opponent's legs. Then nipping around him and regaining possession. In 20 odd years of playing Macca had never managed it before. The unfortunate victim was none other than Vas Kalegoracas.

The man who keeps the lads in line, assistant coach Micky Brennan, is back to his best in every sense. A nasty back injury had restricted Micky's activities. He recently went into hospital for surgery and has emerged revitalised with the energy of man half his age, (ie that of a 40 year old, one player quipped).

Regular readers will know that the player who managed the daftest act of the week was awarded with wearing a beanie at training. Now the hot weather has set in the beanie is a bit too much, so the boys are looking for a yellow bib instead. If you can supply one of the yellow training-style bibs call me on 478 1756 and we'll arrange a great prize, such as a mention in the next programme.

Where, in the past few weeks, could you have talked soccer with, a star who played for Everton and Sheffield Wednesday, a man who marked Diego Maradona out of a match, a former coach of the Socceroos and the man who has just lured Terry Venables to Australia?

While you are trying to guess who we are talking about, the place to have seen and talked with these people is the Glory clubrooms.

Supporters Club

If soccer is your game then the clubrooms are the place to be after the match to mix with the big names of the game.

Hear Gary Marocchi's post-match address, watch the man of the match presentation and mix with the stars, including all the Glory stars and the opposition.

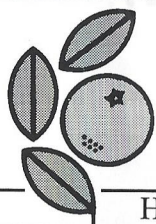

How do you gain access to this exclusive sanctum? Easy, it costs just $40 for adults and $25 for children to join the Glory Supporters Club, you also get a host of goodies including a cap, sticker and club newsletter.

What about buying a membership for yourself or a friend for Christmas?

How did you go with identifying the big names? They were:

Mick Lyons, former Toffee and Owl and now manager of Canberra Cosmos, Paul Wade, who man-marked Diego Maradona to such great effect in a World Cup qualifier, Frank Arok, former Socceroo coach and now at the helm for Gippsland, David Hill, Soccer Australia supremo

Today's Visitors - Adelaide City

Our visitors today, Adelaide City, are one of the most popular clubs in the Ericsson Cup and one with a great tradition.

Adelaide also have a traditional relationship with Perth, having visited here on a number of occasions. We issue a warm welcome to all players, officials and supporters.

Adelaide have also had a tradition of recognising the talents of West Australians, with Glory coach Gary Marocchi and captain Gareth Naven having had spells at the club.

One of Adelaide's current stars is West Aussie Jason Petkovic. Jason spent 16 years with Spearwood and followed in the footsteps of another great goalkeeper, Robert Zabica, when he shifted to the city of churches. Jason has graduated to the Socceroos after gaining honours with WA and South Australia.

Another Socceroo on show today is Alex Tobin, an Adelaide stalwart who has performed with distinction on the international stage. An accomplished centre-half, Alex has marked some of the finest players in the world.

Milan Ivanovic has guarded some of the finest strikers in the world, including Gary Lineker at the peak of his career.

Milan has one thing in common with his direct opponent today, Bobby Despotovski, as both had links with famous club Red Star Belgrade. Milan moved onto Adelaide in 1989 and as naturalised Aussie represented the Socceroos for five years. Milan is one of the finest players the Australian game has seen.

Midfielder Mark Brazzale lists skiing among his hobbies and will be hoping to put Glory on the slippery slope to defeat.

Watch out too for Angelo Costanza, another of the players helping Adelaide to climb the table.

Experienced Michael Yates, with over 50 national league games under his belt, will be another Adelaide defender out to stop the Glory. Yates has represented South Australia on a regular basis.

John Gibson was a member of the Australian Olympic outfit which did so well in Barcelona. He counts Sydney United and APIA Leichhardt among his previous clubs.

Kosta Salapasisidis will be another one to watch. Signed from West Adelaide he will be looking for goals.

Dinno Mennillo is not such a well known name but will be out to give Glory problems in midfield. His career so far has included a scholarship at the Australian Institute of Sport.

"Face In The Crowd"

Every week you can win a great dinner for two at a leading Perth restaurant just by being in the crowd. Each week our photographer will snap a crowd shot. In the next programme a face will be circled - and the person singled out wins a dinner for two! It's that simple. To claim your prize give Glory a call on 383 9911 between 9am and 5pm on weekdays. Bon appetite!

Sydney Utd 4 - Glory 2

Glory faced its toughest test so far with a visit to Ericsson Cup pacesetters Sydney United and came away beaten but not disgraced.

Free-scoring Sydney has been labelled one of the best teams in the national competition but were rocked when Glory took a surprise lead in the 10th minute through Paul Strudwick's well-struck free kick.

Glory though failed to take chances and were made to pay in the 37th minute when Velimir Kupresak headed home from a corner.

Two minutes later another set piece saw leading scorer David Zdrilic find space and head Sydney into the lead.

Glory's urgency in seeking an equaliser backfired when Kresimir Marusic broke through to chip Tommy Maras and send the home side in at the break with a 3-1 advantage.

Glory had plenty of the ball at the start of the second term but failed to convert opportunities into goals. The destination of the points was put beyond doubt on the hour when Ante Milicic, who was wooed by Glory during its hunt for players, fired home number four.

Fifteen minutes from time Vas Kalegoracos, operating in a three man strike force with Bobby Despotovski and Strudwick latched onto a long ball and made it 4-2.

Along with Craig Naven, Strudwick and Kalegoracos were among Glory's best as they absorbed another lesson in the tough school of top flight Australian soccer.

From The Touchline. By Bob Figg

David Hill may have the odd fault, but he cannot be accused of lacking vision. The same cannot be said for those who have slammed the appointment of Terry Venables.

Venables is one of the best coaches in the world. He proved it at Barcelona and he proved it with England in Euro 96. Certainly England rode their luck at times during that tournament but as someone once said the lucky generals are the ones you want on YOUR side.

It would have been unthinkable just a few years back to have even dreamed of luring a man of the status of Venables to coach the Socceroos. His appointment is no denigration of those currently coaching in Australia, it is merely a question of going for the best person available and getting him.

If Venables can get Australia to the World Cup Finals in 1998 - and those who think it is a foregone conclusion are underestimating the resources being pumped into soccer in Asia at the moment - the game here will really take off.

The steps taken so far such as the broadening of the national competition have the game on the up. However, nothing arouses the interest of the public at large and the media like a successful national side.

For far too many years soccer in this country has looked like getting things right only to be distracted by the latest bout of internecine warfare. Now the appointment has been made it is time for all in the game to get behind Hill and El Tel.

If they fail retribution will be swift. I have a suspicion though that the decision is the right one. Australia v England in Paris two years from now. I'd like to see that.

The views expressed in this column are those of Bob Figg and are not necessarily shared by Perth Glory.

Perth Glory may only be just beginning its journey to soccer success but the aim is to become one of the biggest clubs in Australia.

To do this needs vision and commitment - just as the great clubs around the world have shown. Each programme one of these will come under the spotlight. This issue features Barcelona.

Famous Clubs

A Swiss bank teller made a deposit which was to interest thousands when he started a football club in the city of Barcelona on November 29, 1899.

Swiss sportsman Hans Gamper, an employee in a branch office of a French bank in the city was joined in founding Barcelona by another Swiss, two Englishmen and four locals.

It was Gamper who settled on the club's now world famous colours, taking them from the flag of the Swiss canton in which he was born.

A Scottish team, St Mirren, was guest of honour when Barca inaugurated a new stadium, Les Corts, in 1922, the hosts coming out 2-1 winners.

But Barcelona outgrew their home and on September 24, 1954 they moved to a new ground - the Nou Camp, which was inaugurated with a match against Poland, which Barcelona won 4-2. The Nou Camp has since become one of the finest grounds in the world.

Barcelona

It was during the 50s that Barcelona won both the Spanish league and Spanish cup.

Another year to remember for fans of the great side was 1973, when Dutch star Johan Cruyff joined the club, one of a host of great stars to grace the colours, including those of the status of Diego Maradona, Neeskens, Romario and Stoichkov.

Plenty of legendary names have occupied the coach's office at the Nou Camp, with Cruyff enjoying enormous success, including a European Cup triumph when Dutch ace Ronald Koeman fired home the only goal against Sampdoria at Wembley.

Cruyff led his side to four successive league titles, making a speciality of clinching the crown on the last day of the season such as in 1994 when Barca beat Seville 4-2 and rivals Deportivo La Coruna drawing 0-0, missing a penalty into the bargain.

New Soccerroos coach Terry Venables had a stint at Barcelona, signing up Gary Lineker and Mark Hughes, among others.

Now in charge at the Nou Camp is former England boss Bobby Robson. Led by the Brazilian sensation Ronaldo, Barcelona look set for even more success.
